Objective(s)

- To learn about the importance of paternal love and the cultural value of ancient poetry.
- To create chocolate gift boxes and heart-shaped chocolates to cultivate the concept of "filial piety," helping them learn to express their love for their fathers.

Brief Descriptions:

On Father's Day, children watched the story "Filial Piety Moves Heaven" to learn about the virtue of filial piety and reflected on their own respect for parents. Teachers discussed ways to honor fathers, such as serving tea and giving massages.

In group games, children role-played as fathers to experience their hard work and love, fostering gratitude. They also appreciated the greatness of paternal love through cultural stories and ancient poems.

Children created heart-shaped chocolates as gifts, decorating them with their designs, and prepared flowers to express their love. The school provided parent-child craft kits for continued creativity at home, enhancing family interaction.

During the celebration, children actively participated, gaining a deeper understanding of their fathers' dedication and learning to express appreciation. These activities helped cultivate children's understanding of traditional Chinese values of filial piety and the importance of showing love and gratitude to their fathers.
