Visit Woodside Biodiversity Education Centre

Objective(s)

- Recognizing different animals
- Learn about the close relationship between habitats and species diversity

Brief Descriptions:

The guide explained the habitats of different animals in nature and the relationship between biodiversity and people's lives. Interactive games were played to deepen children's understanding of the characteristics of different animals and their habitats. The guide showed different butterfly specimens for children to observe and explore.

The guide introduced different display panels and the animals living in the Centre, such as long-tailed lizards, narrow-mouthed frogs and mudskippers, etc. Interactive electronic games were also arranged for the children to explore in the Centre.
