Visiting Flower Market Learning Day

Objective(s)

- Know that visiting the flower market is an activity for Lunar New Year.
- Become familiar with the environment of the flower market and names of New Year goods.
- Feel the festive atmosphere of visiting the flower market.

Brief Descriptions:

The teacher led the children to learn about the flower market stalls and goods. The children were required to purchase festive items for the school and other New Year goods previously discussed with their parents. On the day, the teacher divided the children into four small groups and began shopping under guidance. As they passed by stalls with relevant items, they tried to ask vendors about prices, select products, complete transactions, and even negotiate with assistance from their teacher. For the children, this was a novel learning experience. They successfully completed this shopping activity and shared a summary of it with the teacher upon returning to school.

Through this activity, the aim was to help them understand national traditions and Chinese culture, fostering a sense of belonging to their country. It also served to teach them to follow laws, care for public property, respect others, and become good citizens.
