Kiss Kiss Mommy, I Love You!

Objective(s)

- To learn about the greatness of mothers and cultivate gratitude.
- To develop the concept of "filial piety" and learn to express their love for their mothers.

Brief Descriptions:

On Mother's Day, mothers came to school to watch children perform mother's day songs dedicated to them which celebrates their selfless love. This performance enhanced children's expressive skills and confidence while allowing mothers to feel their children's sincerity. It strengthened the parent-child relationship and teaching kids to express their love.

Additionally, children watched Chinese cultural stories and ancient poems to understand the greatness of maternal love and the virtue of filial piety, reflecting on their own respectful behaviors in daily life. In a cultural theater setting, discussions about ways to honor mothers, such as serving tea, giving massages, and offering blessings, accompanied by role-playing to showcase gratitude.

In group games, children role-played as mothers to experience the hard work of caring for a family and to appreciate their efforts. They also created Mother's Day gifts - a jewelry box which they designed and decorated. In the box, the children made plush diamond rings to express their love.

Finally, the school provided a parent-child craft kit for families to continue their creative projects at home, encouraging interaction and collaboration.
