Library and Bus Experience Day

Objective(s)

- Compare the appearance and characteristics of different transportation vehicles through personal experience, on-site observation, and photographic documentation.
- Follow the rules for riding buses and using the library.

Brief Descriptions:

The teachers guided the children in a hands-on experience riding a double-decker bus, where they learned about passenger etiquette and safety rules. During the journey, the children observed the bus's interior facilities and the street scenery along the route, gaining familiarity with various forms of land transport. Upon arriving at the library, the children independently selected books that interested them and borrowed titles related to transportation to share back at school. Through this joyful experience, the children deepened their understanding of transportation and passenger guidelines while gaining their first taste of the reading environment in a public library.
